

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE BRITAIN'S BEST SURPRISE

ROTHWELL

Rothwell is one of those towns that is preserved by it's bypass, in this case the A14 which removes all passing traffic from the town. It now stands again peacefully above the River Ise. In it's centre a series of fine buildings which surround the market square which was given it's charter by King John in 1204. At the lower end of the square lies Jesus Hospital, founded in 1591 by Owen Ragsdale and built to provide accommodation for the elderly, which it still does. Back across the square you will find a palimpsest of later buildings, many of interest.
